B. g, (May), by Street Magician – Heaven Knows What, by Holy Bull. Trainer Ramsey Nolan. Bred by R Larry Johnson (Md).

WHENIGETTOHEAVEN, hustled from the gate, secured the inside and set a pressured pace under some rating, spurted clear after being cued soon into the lane, widened a bit near mid stretch, turned away an outside threat from TIDEWATER leaving mid stretch and held sway under a drive. TIDEWATER, jostled at the break but still came away forwardly, tracked inside in hand, shifted out four wide for the drive, ranged up in mid stretch to loom a serious presence, failed to kick on with the winner but kept on well to save the place. WORLD ON FIRE, within range three wide, shifted five wide with progress into the stretch, switched over to the left lead leaving mid stretch and continued on with good effort. BLAME THE TUX was sent up early and prompted outside the winner, bid to near even terms mid turn, sparred into the lane, chased on willingly leaving mid stretch then faded late. JESSICA'S EYES, forwardly placed off the inside, was under a ride mid turn, pursued between horses in mid stretch and kept on trying. WITTY broke slowly, lagged off the pace, came four wide for the drive, altered out near the sixteenth pole and had some belated interest. BOASTFULLY IRISH broke outward bumping a rival, raced towards the rail, eased out a bit in upper stretch but lacked a bid. KATIE'S NOTION, off the pace while saving ground, remained inside and lacked a rally. HAD TO HAVE HIM, reluctant to load, broke sluggishly then was eased back off foes, made a mid move between rivals, failed to sustain past the quarter pole and faded. ELON, bumped at the start, was taken wide early, lost ground four to seven wide and weakened.
